Wrocław, 10th March 2009

Dear Colleagues,

Students' Scientific Association from the Institute of Archaeology of Wrocław University has an honour to invite you to our Conference, which will take place in Wrocław, on 4-5th April 2009. The Conference Subject will be:

"History of lecherous man..., sexuality in the past"

Sexuality has always been an important element in considerations about human nature. Wide range of attitudes (from extreme puritanism to unbridled libertinism) regarding this intimate part of human life, observable through ages, makes the subject interesting and not trivial. We count on discussion about sexuality and eroticism in the broad sense, its role in society, art, symbolism and culture since Stone Age up to the Renaissance. Changes of attitude to human body became one of the main factors creating our culture and a civilization level criterion.

We would like to invite representatives of many disciplines like archaeology, history, art history and anthropology, hoping that basing on many different sources we will be able to obtain a satisfying results. Although this meeting is mostly for students, we would like to extend a special invitation to those, who have already finished their studies and to research workers.

Please, submit your registration with short abstract in German and English to kjaronska@archeolodzy.org. 25th March 2009 is closing date for applications which are available on our website.: <http://seksualnosc.archeolodzy.org>.

The Conference is fee-free.

See you in Wrocław!
